ESTABLISHED BY JOSEPH PULITZER. RALPH PULITZER, President, 63 Park Row. J. ANGUS SHAW, Treasurer, 63 Park Row. JOSEPH PULITZER, Jr., Secretary, 63 Park Row.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, The Associated Press is excitatively entitled to the use for republication of all name despatches waited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local name published herein.

VOLUME 58.....NO. 20,630

IN JUSTICE TO MR. MURPHY.

URING the recent municipal campaign, on Oct. 22, 1917, The Evening World reprinted in its editorial columns, with comments, certain charges that were made against Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, in the campaign of 1903, and published at that time. These charges were in the form of alleged statements of former Chief of Police William Devery, and were to the effect that Mr. Murphy had been interested in poolrooms and other illegal resorts, and had been engaged in transactions which reflected upon his civic and personal integrity.

Investigation by The World's Bureau of Accuracy and Fair Play has shown that there is no basis of truth whatever for these allegations, and that in so far as they affect Mr. Murphy's integrity they are wholly false. The man who originally made them admits that he has no evidence of any kind to sustain them. Hence the charges and the sources of the charges must be dismissed as equally irresponsible.

The World's Bureau of Accuracy and Fair Play was instituted for the objects that its title implies. Mr. Murphy is entitled to an equal measure of justice with any other citizen. In this case the fact that The World has consistently opposed Mr. Murphy's leadership of Tammany Hall is only an added reason why there should be scrupulous and willing fairness in relieving him from any burden of false accusation.

The Evening World, desiring at all times to be fair, wishes now to publicly express, both to Mr. Murphy and its readers, its sincere regret that these unfounded charges were published.

VIA AUSTRIA?

T IS just as well to bear in mind that when Count von Hertling, the German Chancellor, talks in the open his tones must be the tones of confident Prussianism. When he whispers through a side door it may be different,

A despatch from Rome quotes from the Germania, a Berlin newspaper which is called the organ of Chancellor von Hertling, an article expressing confidence not only that Count Czernin's recent speech was deliberately intended to prepare the ground for peace perleys between Austria and the United States, but that-what is more—the speech could not have been made without the consent

The latest utterance of the President of the United States leaves the possibility of peace standing very close to the Austrian door.

It may be that is where the German Chancellor wants to see it. To save the face of militarism before an outraged Junker party in Germany it might be very convenient to be able to point out that it was Austria that stopped the fight and let in the white-robed stranger.

DOWN THE RETAIL FOOD-PROFITEER.

consumers in this city will shortly have the protection of a price-card system put into effect by the Federal Food Administration along lines long urged by The Evening World.

The plan will give constant publicity to food prices, wholesale and retail. The latter will be under the strict supervision of the Federal Food Board. The retail food dealer will not be permitted to take more than fair profits nor to charge prices higher than are warranted by location, cartage distance from the source of supply, etc.

Consumers will be asked to co-operate by noting the card prices and making due complaint of overcharges or of deficiencies in the quality of food sold.

In their campaign for food conservation Food Administrators will find that nothing is more certain to increase the patriotic willingness of housekeepers to heed the recommendations of the food conservers than daily evidence that Food Boards are effectively at work to prevent profiteering in the articles to which demand is directed

Consumers have been dismayed to find that the kinds of food which they are specially urged, in the nation's interest, to eat, are Gene, who made her life one continustraightway advanced in price at a rate for which there appears to be ous joy ride, and hoped on. When no check.

The price-card system can do much to convince the public that his chum, Billy Ward. Gene and the Food Administration—supported by honest food dealers, who are Babs paired off, always leaving Billy worshipfully up at me and audibly a day") "a dime a day on cigars of In the majority-is doing what can be done to keep the rise of all to make love to me. I have often food prices within economically determined limits which the price sincerely, when all the time he must boosters cannot exceed without promptly being called to account.

The Evening World calls upon the members of its Housewives' Babs. For Gene adored Babs. Billy Protective Association to help make the price-card system the strongest protection yet against the profiteer.

THE GREAT RUSSIAN DRAMA.

Act I .- Mobilization. Act II ... Mobilization. Act III .- Demoralization. Act IV Disintegration.

Hits From Sharp Wits

Milwaukee News.

imagine that it is fame.-Albany

Count that day lost whose low descending sun sees no fresh scrap in

Russia's realm begun, -- Cleveland Piain Dealer,

We wonder if there are any calcries a solion odors — Toledo Blade.

It is a remarkable fact that no in onion odore.—Tuledo Blade.

ft to a remarkable fact that no wern-out collar ever gets jest in the launder. Its mongled remains are sisses to the collar triangle.

The man who saws wood and says engagement. nothing has also the reason that he could not make himself heard above the noise of the saw.—Albany Jourand wan,"

The Chicago News presents the in-le's getting so nowadays that you turn your back on one without facing another. Box. ten Transcript.

A Peaceful Understanding By J. H. Cassel

My Matrimonial Chances

S AGAINST profiteering on the part of retail food dealers, Recording the Experiences of a Young Girl of Thirty

By Wilma Pollock

the week end.

a little from the others.

whispering the tenderest nothings.

The others were all vastly inter-

On Monday morning the men left on an early train-all but Gene, who devotedly walted to go to town with

Mondays, so there was no need of Babs drove us to the station in her car and made us promise to come that we would only want to come together. . We were no sooner on the

I am so weary of having people pity me because I am still in love with Even my own sister says !

ested and excited. Gene was obliv-

Couright, 1918, by the Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World), No. III.-The "Substitute."

began to court her heart was set on winning Elizabeth Hunter for his wife. Gene, who wa about fifteen years older than Babs, had waited for her to reach a marriageable age. Then be

But she knew she would not marry him, and so did everybody clas except Babs wanted to include me, her chum. really have been longing to be with lous to everybody and everything but adored Gene and also Babs. At Brat Raha looked upon lilly as a more boy, because he was eight years younger than Gene. But he was dear. handsome, ambitious and successful. and in time she decided he would suit her admirably as a husband. They played the game honorably and as long as Gene was still in the ring.

Billy kept out. When Babs for the tenth time retused Gene, he began to see he was the dog in the manger who was keep-Those 25-cent thrift stamps show Don't tell all you know, but it's ing the two lovesick children apart that the Government refuses to use difficult to be close-mouthed with the famous slogan. "No quarter."— Find delphia Record.

Don't tell all you know, but it's ing the two lovesick children apart is he packed up and went West. His going was as good as a "God bless" ing the two lovesick children apart. going was as good as a "God bless Babs. months' time they announced their

Gene came back not a lover "pale made you the goat, but you're always be home, and we may have dinner and wan," but apparently heart game and understand." whole, in time to be best man at the wedding. I was maid of honor. That he was playing. For if it made him dren and the house." is as near as I have ever get to mar- happier I do not mind being hurt

Gane came to see me a few times, of in the eyes of my friends. en, then until lest week I had not seen him since lishs and Billy cele. I not nobleved being "game?" and eat their supp-this is wheatless day, brand their wooden wedding Ai- ba. not being "made the goat" been or meetless day, I forget which; but, though Gene and I frequently visited thrust upon me?

The Jarr Family

By Roy L. McCardell Copyright, 1915, by the Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World),

"Why do you always ask that?" inquired the best of husbands, must take, what they do not want although the programme did not so somewhat petulantly. "You know they can have?" asked Mr. Jarr. state, the gown was by Smudge, the where I work, you know what the office hours are, you know how long it the celebration of the Wards' tin work is done, you know" wedding, at Tarrytown. Most of the "I know a lot of things," Mrs. Jarr guests went back on a late train, but interrupted, "but I do not know what Babs's sister Katharine and her time you'll be home this evening, so lance, Hugh Carr, the newly we'l I'm asking. Simply because you say J k and Maud Rivers, Bob you've stopped smoking is no reason and Sybil King, Gene's married als- why you should be cross as a bear! ter and her husband, and Gene and If you are going to be an old crank I remained with Babs and Billy for just because you don't waste all your money on tobacco, why, start smoking

I expected to feel quite out of it again!" among all these happy couples. But "The great mystery is," mused Mr. Gene was my devoted Galahad. He Jarr, his thoughts going off on a behaved like a foolish lover. It was side track at Mrs. Jarr's remark wonderful to be adored so, although about all the money he wasted on I almost wished he would be a little smoking, "the great mystery is: more reserved and conceal his arder What becomes of all the money we do not spend when we swear off our In the soft lamp lighted room after expensive habits and pastimes? I used strenuous day out of doors he sat to spend," there Mr. Jarr checked at my feet before the fire, gazing himself as he started to eay "a dollar tobacco. Where is that money I don't spend on smokes now?" "Well, I'm sure I haven't it!" said Mrs. Jarr. "but I want to know if you will be home early this evening, because I want you to look after thchildren at dinner, as I am going with Clara Mudridge-Smith and Mrs. Stryver to the training camp to take

The kindergarten is closed in Smileage Books to our soldier boys. "Fine!" cried Mr. Jarr. "Those are the coupon theatre tickets used at the soldier entertainments, aren't they? It's a great idea, and it is one that th coon again, taking it quite for granted theatrical managers should copy. We may do away with the theatrical ticket apeculator that way. The train than Gene, heaving a great heatres could sell comedy coupons sigh, said: "Chank God, that's over.

and musica, show meal tickets." "How could we afford to my such things unles they were sold on the instalment plan?" asked Mrs. Jarr There is much talk about food and fuel shortage, but there is quite as much scare as scarcity.—Desert He concentrated on Babs, and in two fees. Think I succeeded, don't you?

There is much talk about food and fuel shortage, but there is quite as much scare as scarcity.—Desert He concentrated on Babs, and in two fees. Think I succeeded, don't you?

Habs. Even my own elster says I instalment plan?" asked Mrs. Jarr. hang around Babs too much. I "But our Wartime Ladies" Knitting thought I would cure them of the league bought a lot of Smilesge News. For even Baha was fooled. I knew out to camp As it is quite | jouryou would not take me seriously. I ney, I do not know what time I will somewhere; so I want you to be I assured Gene I knew all the time home early and look after the chil-

> "Anything to pieace you." replied and disappointed and made a fool Mr. Jarr. Just what am I to do?" For was I not born sanalhia? Have 66 WILL you be late this eve- the children do not like fish, no see that they cat it."

I wish you wouldn't put it that We met again Friday evening at takes to get home when my day's if Mr. Hoover knew how much It was truly a moment of artistic trouble I had trying to follow his expectation.

ways to win the war at the dinner table, he would appreciate my ser- doubtedly the poetic instinct lies vices for my country. I simply can't smouldering in your souls. We are make the children eat corn muffins or here to-day to awaken it that it may satment bread on wheatless days." "Can I take them out to the mov- speak." ing pictures if they are good?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"No," said Mrs. Jarr. "They were saughty yesterday after I let them pociess, "to lead you in poetry comgo to the moving pictures. I want position. Postry helps one in court- guilty one. However, as Miss Dochem to stay home and go to bed car- ship and, likewise, it smooths over ly to-night, so they will not be inte one's troubles when all is drear." o school to-morrow, for this is such short month and there are so many Peloe Brown, wife of Constable plauded with great gusto. lidays in it that they forget what Brown. hey are taught between times."

"You are going to take Smileage soks to the soldiers, but if there were Smileage Books for families, couldn't I have a few movie coupons orn out for our youngsters?" Mr Jarr inquired.

"You could if they deserved it." Mrs. Jarr replied. "But that reminds me that your suggestion is a very good one. Why shouldn't there be Family Smileage Books? If the children were good they could be given oupons for the moving pictures or for ice cream soda or candy."

"And a man could get an evening out on his Smileage Book from his wife if he had been good?" suggested

Mrs. Jarr considered the suggestion few moments and then said: "Well, the coupons might be used that way oo, but what could the wife and nother get out of the coupons?" "She might use them for trading stamps or Thrift Stamps," ventured "I might have known you would say omething like that," replied Mrs. strenuous physical exercise.

farr. "Husband and children are to have a good time, but poor mother is apected to enjoy berself by saving and scrimping." "Don't worry," remarked Mr. Jarr, the Pamily Smileage Book hasn't 'il see that you get as much enjoy-"See that Willie is neat at the But Mrs. Jarr wasn't so sure of the first sight of half-naked warriors, an equal number developed by the or table and see that both the children this, because, as she said, even if the coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was suppositive Family Smileage Book of mostless day, i forget which; but, anyway, we have fish for dinner, and pinochie or corner cafes?

Inch out of the coupons as I do."

But Mrs. Jarr wasn't so sure of the first sight of half-naked warriors, an equal number developed by the or coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was excuped any the coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was excuped any the coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was excuped any top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must in sham battle coming at the new system must be not coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must be not coming at top speed from a bit of method. The umpire's decision was expected at the new system must be not coming at top speed from a bit of method at the new system must be not com

War Medals Of the Fighting Nations

NO. 5.—ITALY AND MONTENEGRO. ROM the beginning, the war has been for Italy truly an uphill figh for the summits of the mountains which marked her frontiers were enemy territory and heavily fortified. Progress could only be made by scaling the peaks, warfare under the most difficult circumstances. The peaks were conquered and greatests of military shill and daring had been recorded when there came the disaster of the late autumn and for a time all hope scemed lost. But the Italians made a stand and are still standing; they have "come back," and to such an army all things are possible. The proudest honor which these fighting men may hope to win is the Medal of Valor. It is made of gold, of silver, and of bronze, worn on a ribbon of light blue, and is awarded for acts of compleuous gallantry to officers and men alike. The bronze Medal of Valor is a high distinction; that of silver is hard to win, but the sold insignta of courage is reserved for acts of herois which thrill an entire army. Indeed, it is usual awarded only to those who have sacrificed their live in some venture which meant certain death

The Military Order of Savoy was established in 1815 and is of five lasges, the award of even the lowest of them couferring a limiting dignity. It is a white cross, the ribbon being of red with a central strips of bins.

UEEN HELENA is by birth a Princess Royal of Montenegro and so that country holds a sentimental luterest for all Italians. The little mountain kingdom, faithful to its ally, Serbia, entered the great conflict after but a brief period of recupera-tion from its losses in the Balkap wars. Her hardy soldiers put up the gallant defense that was to be expected of them, but without avail; they were crushed by the vast Teutonic wave. The Order of Danilo, a general order of merit, is the reward bestowed by the sovereign for faithful and gallant service. It commemorates the independence of Montenegro, is of blue enamel, with a white and red ribbon, and was es-

Ellabelle Mae Doolittle

By Bide Dudley

Hugun Hall Tuesday afternoon to She took a pencil and a pad of hear a becture by Eilabelle Mac Doo- paper and wrote. Then she read? ittle, the noted poeters, on the subpect of "Postry Writing." Miss Deslittle had promised to give the adies a leason in the art of rhyming the second?" and, as a result, the hall was packed | Mrs. Elisha Q Pertle, Promptress, called the meeting to order at I o'clock and all was expectancy. "It has always been my keen desire," said the Promptress in her opening address, "to be able to write line." poetry. Once I tried it, writing a rhyme about my uncle, Josiah Greer, but he didn't like it because I made als name rhyme with 'beer.' So I hung off of poetry after that. Today we have a treat in store. A noted poetess is to tell us how to you and the first leacon will be over." write the muse, and I am sure we will reliab her talk. I have the honor table and scribbled just two minutes to present Miss Ellabelle Mae The ladies awaited the finish breath-gowned in Swiss cheesecloth, draped around her to Paviowa style and "Anything they do not like they irimmed with drips of cotton batting. well known Delhi ladles' way," said Mrs. Jarr. "I only know bowed and smiled in all directions.

> "Dear friends," she began. "Unspeak and, maybap, continue to "Beautiful," was the comment of Mrs. Cutey Boggs.

"I intend," coutinued the noted "Some speech!" murmured Mrs.

THE Educational Section of the "And now," Miss Docultie went Dollif Women's Betterment on, "let us see if we cannot write a League held a meeting at composite poem. I will start it." "Love is in each woman's heart."

"That is our introductory line," said the postess. "Who will give me

Mrs. Beggs had offered it. showed in the face of the famed young woman on the stage. "Lovely!" "Now for another key she nald.

"Into fove we'll fall some day." Mrs. Skeeter O'Brien leaped to he

"Boom ta ra ra, boom te aye." "Very good!" said Miss Doolittie. "Now I will finish the rhyme for She sat down at the promptress's lessly. "A concerted sigh of expec Miss Decilttle stepped to the front tancy went up when she arose. Imof the rostrum. She was becomingly mediately Miss Duclittle read the finshed product an follows:

Love to in each woman's been Don't let the horse get before the Lute love we'll fall some day, Capid does some funny stunts; Do not let him get you crass About some poker player who's last will teach you life to fair. And for it you will surely care.

My slater's child, Teeny Richetts, Fell off our fence and broke sig pickets.
But of love I'm here to speak, It is a gift that's very greet of your husbands in Chicago I know

The last two lines struck the ladies dumb for the nonce. Each wondered if her husband was the ttle began to back up stage they all found their voices. A great cheer went up and then the ladles ap-All were pleased.

Strenuous Athletics Revive Exhausted French Fighters would naturally be supposed that fine glow and with mind diverted.

soldiers on returning, plastered sound, refreshing sleep is easy. with mud, chilled and exhausted, from a period of trench duty, would tem to to bring back to top form men be allowed to turn in and sleep until they could sleep no longer. But it has been found that the fatigue of this type of warfare is more mental than physical, and that strained nerves made restful slumber impossible when the men went at once in crawling, has acquired agility while from the trenches to a rest camp for several days of idleness.

dition again has been devised by more dangerous opponent in a baye Lieut. Hobert of the French navy, net duel. Without pausing to rest, they are The new method has entirely di marched from the trenches into the placed the old system of training r open country back of the line. There cruits just called to the colors. They are put through a course of French soldier is now taught of the Family conneage Book hasn't shouting and singing at the tops of The great benefits of such training

While one object of the new sysgone stale from trench life, the fact first consideration, and each of the exercises prescribed is carefully planned to increase their fighting ability. A man who, through practic of life in a sudden encounter at night A remarkably successful method in No Man's Land, and running of getting the soldiers back into con- fumpling and climbing make him

Stripped to the waist, the men set value to battle, including thereus out for a cross-country run, over instruction in throwing hand grenade fences and ditches, up hill and down, and the use of the bayonet. The op and along winding forest paths. They air exercise toughens the muscl jump, climb trees, crawl like snakes hardens the skin and fits a man through grassy places, all the while withstand exposure to all weather.

their voices. It is said that the peas- was shown when troops drilled under ants were amazed and startled at the new system met in sham batt